CREIGHTON UNIVERSITY TO OFFER BOOT CAMP FOR THE JUNE 2011 CFA EXAM
Coursework offers intensive preparation for Chartered Financial Analyst® exam

Omaha, Nebraska (May 4, 2011)- Creighton University is offering their second, annual four-day boot camp to help candidates prepare for the 2011 Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA)® exam. The program will be held in the Creighton University College of Business in Omaha, Nebraska, running Thursday, May 12, 2011 through Sunday, May 15, 2011. This comprehensive and intense review is Creighton University's second boot camp offering and focuses on preparing candidates for the three levels of the 2011 CFA® exam.

The CFA® designation is one of the most globally recognized and respected credentials in the investment industry. The CFA® program and designation are regarded for the thoroughness of the practitioner-based curriculum and the emphasis on investment principles and their applications in the global marketplace.

Creighton University has delivered high-quality, comprehensive CFA® exam reviews to local candidates for over six years. Realizing the need to support those CFA candidates outside of Omaha, Creighton University created the boot camp in 2010, a condensed four-day session to review information covered in the three levels of the CFA® exam.

The cost for the CFA® boot camp is $650.00 for Creighton University students or those enrolled in the 2011 Spring Creighton Review Course in Omaha, and $750.00 for all other candidates. Registration is accepted through May 8, 2011.

The boot camp is led by a team of CFA® Charterholders, who also teach in Creighton University's Master's of Security Analysis and Portfolio Management (MSAPM) Program. Creighton University's MSAPM offers students a campus-based as well as an online master's program specializing in investment assessment, security analysis and portfolio management. This complex finance program curriculum covers significant sections of the topics for the three levels of the CFA® curriculum. The MSAPM program at Creighton University is among 118 universities worldwide that have been recognized as a CFA® Program Partner.
